Editors and Publishers.

COUNTY OFFICERS:

Treasurer—Peter Weago.
Auditor—L. Strenken.
Register of Deeds—F. Greiner.
Sheriff—F. E. Du Toit.
Clerk of Court—B. Krayenbuhl.
Attorney—L. E. Baxter.
Surveyor—H. J. Chere.
Judge of Probate—J. A. Sargent.
School Superintendent—Wm. Busson.
Coroner—R. H. Miller.
County Commissioners—S. B. Kohler, Chairman.
A. W. Tiffany, Frederick Illis, C. Thomsen, Adam Hill.

The Carver Free Press came out in quarto form last week, thereby increasing its reading matter. We think our young friends, the publishers, will find before they are much older that it takes money to publish a paper and we would advise them to be prepared to draw on their "surplus reserve fund" ere many weeks have passed. However success, as there is nothing little about the Herald office.

The Grand Jury of Ramsey County, looked into and investigated the reports of bribery and corrupt practices by members of the so-called "book ring" last winter before the Legislature, and for that purpose subpoenaed a long list of witnesses, but after a hearing concluded that the evidence was of too light and unreliable a character to justify further consideration of the case and dismissed the whole matter—so ended the first chapter.

This talk about the democrats wishing to unseat President Hays is all bosh. The electoral bill and the decision of the Judges acting in accordance with said bill finally and irrevocably settled the matter of President Hays title as far as the present term is concerned. The present investigation is to prevent, in future, a repetition of the action of the returning boards of Florida and Louisiana. If there were frauds committed the people want to know it, and fasten the responsibility where it belongs.

Hon. J. T. Maxfield, Mayor of St. Paul, died at the Metropolitan Hotel, last Thursday and was buried last Saturday. Mr. M. was one of the most prominent men in the city of St. Paul, and was universally respected. His funeral last Saturday, was very largely attended and attested the esteem which his fellow citizens entertained towards him.

The investigation committee have commenced work examining witnesses. J. E. Anderson, Supervisor of registration in east Polk county, Louisiana, at the last election was sworn and showed plainly that Louisianians wrongfully received a voting for Hays for President. The testimony in full will be given in our next issue inside page.

The supreme court of Pennsylvania has decided that the county of Allegheny is liable for the damage done to property by the Pittsburgh rioters. This decision, which is no doubt good law, may prove a lesson to municipal corporations, and lead them to take more energetic measures in future to prevent outbreaks of the lawless classes.

Camden Items.

DROWNED.—In Crow river on Sabbath, June 2nd, a young man by the name of Boyle. He went in bathing with a lot of other young men and boys, saying at the same time that he was a good swimmer. He dove into the river, sank once or twice and when taken out was past bringing to life again. He was drowned at the same place that Ben Goodrich's son was drowned just five years ago.

Returned to its native place again the monthly cattle fair, after enjoying the hospitality of the Norwood people. The Young Americans brought forward the fatted calf, in the way of free beer.

Crops never looked better in this part of the county than at the present time. The prospect for a big yield is excellent.

Considerable land is changing hands in the vicinity of Young America, and at good prices; these buying being men from Wisconsin mostly.

The question of letting stock run at large is becoming pretty warm. Look out for a war of words if nothing more & those not of the very pleasantest kind.

WAGONIA MILL.

WAGONIA, June 4th 1878.

ED. OF CHASKA VALLEY HERALD:
As our grist and saw mill was destroyed by fire last winter, without being insured, the old firm of Habek & Reuse finding themselves unable to rebuild, and as Wagonia is one of the best points for a mill in the county, the citizens of Wagonia village have resolved to call a mass meeting on Monday the 25th day of June at 2 o'clock in the afternoon at the Dist. School house for the purpose of raising a bonus for the party willing to build a good mill at this place. The citizens of Wagonia and vicinity are cordially invited to attend said meeting.

WORKED HARD.

County Treasurer Weago, had some hard work to do, for the ten days prior to June 1st. His office was crowded from morning until night and it kept him busy from 5 o'clock a. m. until 10 p. m. Auditor Strenken and deputy Krayenbuhl were also kept very busy.

Waconia Items

Assessor Elard is making the round in compliance with his official duty. We are always pleased to see him, however. Miss Emma Kohler, returned home Wednesday from a visit to her sister in Shakopee. She reports having a good time. Mr. C. Radde has just completed his wagon shop, but hasn't secured the service of a wagon maker as yet. There is a good chance for a wagon maker as Charley has plenty of work for one man all the time. Call around you artists.

Lots of excitement in our village last week, all occasioned by a runaway and smash up, and a case of drowning. A tinware peddler by the name of Johnson drove into town last Tuesday week, and when opposite the blacksmith shop, his horse became frightened and ran away dashing the wagon to pieces and seriously injured one of his horses. Mr. Niehaus caught the runaway in front of his saloon. Next morning the peddler, Mr. Johnson of Rochester, Minn., and Mr. Lindholm, our artist went out on the lake for a fish, and after returning to the shore Mr. Johnson requested permission to use the boat a short time, saying that he didn't want the lines, he bid Mr. Lindholm good bye, and started out. He was afterwards seen by some of our citizens in the boat between the Island and the Peninsula. The boat was shortly afterwards noticed floating towards the main land without Mr. J. M. Sluts and Lindholm at once made search and found Mr. J. overcoat in the empty boat with a revolver in the pocket. Our citizens have been dragging the lake up to this time, Wednesday without success. It is generally believed he committed suicide by drowning. His partner and a neighbor by the name of Douglas of Rochester were in town during the week. We will let your readers know of any further developments.

Mr. Lassen is selling goods cheaper than ever. Call and see.

Watertown Items.

Scissor grinder on our street last Friday.
Remember the date of the great New York Circus on Monday the 10th inst.
Work on the stone foundation under the school house is going on rapidly.
F. Dressler has the stone foundation completed under his building.
Watertown can boast of the first circus in the big woods.
A great many have paid their real estate tax this week from this vicinity, in order to avoid the 10 per cent penalty after June 1st.
The Fireman's Picnic will be held in the grove below the brewery on the 4th of July and they will also give a grand ball at Kohler's Hall in the evening.
W. St. John is the happy man this time and it is a girl that caused it.
That game of base ball we spoke of last week was played at Montrose instead of this place, after five innings were played it began to rain and broke up the game. The score stood, White Shirts 6, Montrose 13.
The next game will be played here on the White Shirts grounds on Saturday June the 8th.
The Watertown cornet band will furnish music for the Fireman's parade, picnic and ball on July 4th.
Died, Mrs. Davis of old age on Wednesday the 22nd inst. Funeral services at the Catholic church. Rev. Father McGillick of Waverly officiating. Deceased was nearly ninety years of age at the time of her death.

SCHOOL REPORT.
Report of Watertown school for the first month of summer term, commencing May 8th and ending May 31st 1878.
Number of pupils enrolled the first week 53. Average attendance 44. Number enrolled for the second week 63. Average attendance 49. Number enrolled for the third week 65. Average attendance 41. Number enrolled for the fourth week 68. Average attendance 52. Average attendance for the month 49. Number of pupils neither absent nor tardy during the month 10.
Patrons of the school. Let me urge you to have your children attend school as regular as possible. Every day that a pupil is absent he not only loses something in each lesson, but he makes disturbance in the ranks when he does return; and also takes the teachers time by having to go over with the lesson that he lost; so you can see that a pupil being absent does not lessen our labor, but increases it, and we have more than we can do and do well, the best we can fix it.

THE WORLD'S DOINGS.

CRIMES AND CRIMINALS.

W. H. Seener, ex-tax collector of Putnam county, Illinois, has been arrested at Memphis and held for a requisition from the Governor of Illinois on the charge of embezzlement.

The execution of Wm. R. Robinson, colored, for the murder of Eliza Ray, colored, two years since, took place at Bowling Green, Va., on the 31st ult. in the presence of 400 persons. The prisoner administered his hearers to be aware of evil company and adhere to the teaching of parents. He acknowledged committing the deed for which he was to suffer, and said he was prepared to meet God. At 12 o'clock the cap was drawn over his face and the unfortunate man launched into eternity. He died easily his neck being broken by the fall.

Considerable excitement was created at Cincinnati on the 29th inst. by the accidental discovery of the body of John J. Scott Harrison, who was buried the day before in his family vault at North Bend, in the dissecting rooms of the Ohio medical college. A body had been stolen at North Bend, within the vault, and the body of Mr. Harrison, accompanied with a friend, was seeking it around the medical college of Cincinnati. It was not known that Harrison's body had been taken from the vault recognized in the room of the Ohio medical college. The janitor of the college was arrested.

An atrocious murder was committed at Arlington, Illinois, on the 29th inst. Young Carey, a young man who had been released by his acquaintance, went to her room, cut her throat with a razor, shot her with a revolver, and being met by Mr. and Mrs. Carey on his way down stairs, shot the father in the hip, cut Mrs. Cullenbine severely with a butcher knife, and rushing into the yard, drew a razor across his own throat several times, and expired almost instantly. The parents are severely and fatally hurt. The daughter lived but a few minutes.

It is believed that the secret which Williamson, the escaped convict from Sing Sing, recently convicted of forgery in London, offered to impart for the sum of $75,000, was the flooding of European ports with $200,000,000 of United States national bank currency, a large amount of which is finding its way into this country through emigrants. Another counterfeit has been detected by Samuel Carpenter, general eastern agent of the Pennsylvania railroad, and a $50 treasury note was offered to Mr. Hyer, general ticket agent, who not liking the appearance of the bill showed it to Mr. Carpenter, who pronounced it a counterfeit. The note was sent to a bank, and there also pronounced a dangerous counterfeit.

About 11 o'clock on the 31st ult., a mob of about 20,000 people who had congregated to see what they could of the execution of Webb, the convicted murderer at Mansfield, Ohio, made a rush, overpowered the guards, scaled the jail yard fence, and in a few minutes had torn down a greater part of the enclosure, Sheriff Ritchie telegraphed the governor, notifying of the riot and saying that unless he hung Webb publicly the mob would tear down the jail. The governor replied, directing him to carry out the sentence of the law. At 12:10 p. m. Sheriff Ritchie offered the drop was sprung. Life was pronounced extinct in ten minutes after the trap sprung.

On the 29th ult., a party of four masked men boarded a west-bound Union Pacific passenger train, just after it left Perry station, entered the middle sleeping car, and proceeded to rob the passengers. They took a watch and one hundred dollars from one passenger, fifty dollars and tickets from another, a gold watch and thirty-five dollars from the sleeping car conductor. At that time one pulled the bell cord, and the robbers becoming frightened, jumped off. They fired three shots into the sleeper without injury to the passengers. They struck one passenger with a pistol, cutting the scalp some. It was all done in three minutes, and the robbers were off in the darkness before the train stopped. The governor of Kansas, upon being notified of the robbery, sent a posse of men to pursue the robbers. The Union Pacific railroad company offered a reward of $1,000 for the arrest of the robbers.

CASUALTIES.

An extensive forest fire in the vicinity of Wareham, Mass., has burned over four hundred acres.

The battleship Albatross and six auxiliary buildings, at Brussels, Ont., was burned on the 29th ult. Loss $20,000.

A fire at Edinburgh, Ind., on the 29th ult., destroyed the building and hardware store of Harvey Lewis. Loss $15,000; insurance $6,000 to the Zinc, North America and Hartford.

The "Grosser Kurfurst," came in collision with the iron-clad "Konig Wilhelm" on the 31st ult., three miles off Folkestone. "Kurfurst" was struck on the bow by a roller exploded as she went down. The "Grosser Kurfurst" was the sea calm at the time of the disaster. It is reported from Dover that only eighteen persons of the complement of 460 officers and men on board the "Grosser Kurfurst" were saved. Boats went from shore and were sent from other vessels of the German fleet to the assistance of the drowning people, and it was hoped that more lives were saved.

A special from Gardner, Ill., says a tremendous wind storm passed over that place and vicinity on the 21st inst., which did a large amount of damage. The barn of L. C. Fuller was completely demolished. The house carried about 40 feet and nearly destroyed. Jas. Mann's house and barn was also badly damaged. The houses, barns and nearly all out-buildings of Aaron Scroggs were entirely demolished. Everything on the farm of Ostrame was swept away. At St. James, McComb's place, considerable damage was done and Mrs. McComb killed. An iron bridge crossing a stream near by was struck and a good part of it broken and twisted and carried several rods down stream. A number of other houses in the course of the storm were badly injured, but no lives lost.

On the 30th inst., a fire occurred at Detroit, Michigan. It spread rapidly, and in about one hour the entire row of coal sheds, under which was stored 30,000 tons of coal, were destroyed, as were also the slaughter, packing and coal houses of Bigley & Co., which were located a few feet east of the gas works. The gas company estimate the loss on coal shed and wharf and coal damaged at $10,000; fully insured. Bigley & Co. estimate their loss at $10,000; insured for $49,000. Gasoline superintendent of the fire alarm telegraph and Alexander Lefevre, fireman, were preoccupied into the river by falling timbers. Both were rescued, Lefevre with his fourth rib broken and Gascongne severely bruised. Cause of the fire unknown.

The Times has special from Richmond,

Mo., which says the cyclone which passed over that place on the 21st inst., was the color of steam, and at times the funnel shaped cloud would break or open in places, and emit what appeared to be black smoke, then closed together again, and with increased pace continued on the march of destruction. It first approached slowly, then faster perhaps than a man could walk, than much faster leveling everything in its path with the ground, producing almost complete destruction. The sound it produced was infernal, resembling that of a great catarrh. Debris of the city has been found fourteen miles away. A perfect panic prevailed for a mile, but order and comparative calm was restored. A white, and the killed and wounded provided for. The unharmed houses of citizens were thrown open at once for the reception of homeless sufferers, and every attention possible was given to them. Amidst the walls of women and children and the groans of the dying, strong men shed tears to witness the general destruction and the death and suffering of relatives and friends. The mayor of the city, who had been in the city, and the property have been destroyed, and telegrams have already been received tendering assistance. The funeral of several of the victims took place this afternoon, and the Masses of Requiem were present to the aid in the interment. The remains of Capt. Jacobs were found this morning buried in the ruins, and Judge Donaldson, who was reported wounded last night, is dead, making so far, fifteen deaths. The deaths of several others are momentarily expected. At least 40 persons are seriously or mortally wounded. Many strangers are there rendering all the assistance possible. Stories from the country on the track of the storm north and east are that the growing crops are badly injured, trees prostrated, stock killed, bridges blown down but no houses are reported destroyed, or lives lost.

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL.

James T. Maxfield, Mayor of St. Paul, Minn., died on the 29th ult. There is no truth in the rumor that Prince Frederick William has been fired at.

Major J. C. Becht, Sheriff of Ramsey county, Minnesota, died at St. Paul, on the 29th ult.

At Narragansett Park, Providence, R. I., on the 29th ult., the race for the 2-2-4 class was won by Tremaine in three straight heats. Best time, 2:24.

The executive committee of the honest money league of Chicago have issued a call for a general meeting to be held at the hall of the league, on June 11, at 10 a. m., for the purpose of perfecting and forming a local organization, and to make the work of the league more extensive and effective. Members of both political parties are invited, the league being entirely non-partisan.

The main feature of the bill reported in the Senate by Mr. Edmunds on the subject of the electoral vote for President and Vice President, is a provision that no electoral vote from any State from which but one return has been received shall be rejected, except by an affirmative vote of both houses of Congress, and that in a case where one return is received from any State, the votes only shall be counted of those electors whose title of electors the two houses acting separately shall have concurred in supporting by the decision of the joint tribunal of each State, provided for by its legislature.

While the Emperor Wilhelm was taking a drive on the 24th inst., some shots apparently proceeding from a house in the avenue under the Linden were fired at him. The Emperor was wounded in the arm and in the cheek by bullet and small shot. The would-be assassin is a Dr. Nabeling, occupying apartments No. 18 under the Linden. When his door was forced open, he fired upon and wounded the hotel keeper and tried to commit suicide, but was secured. The emperor's personal attendant jumped into the carriage and supported the emperor until the carriage reached the palace. The Emperor's carriage was loaded with several grains of shot extracted, causing great loss of blood. The Emperor suffered great pain, but never lost consciousness. No serious apprehensions were felt as to his condition.

Seventy thousand dollars worth of deals, stored away at St. Lawrence wharves, Montreal, were burned on the 29th ult. No insurance. The wharves were considerably damaged.

John Kelly, an American contractor on the Pacific coast, of the firm of John Hickler & Co., mysteriously disappeared with fifteen thousand dollars in Canada currency on his person. Foul play is feared.

There has been no change in the state of affairs in the strike districts of Lancashire, Eng. The masters and operatives continue obstinate and there is no prospect of an immediate accommodation of their differences.

With two or three exceptions all the roller cloth works at Fall River, Mass., will within a few days, decide to run on half time for the next eight or ten weeks, either by running alternate weeks or three days each week.

The liabilities of Hon. James M. Smith, lumber dealer of Ottawa, Ont., are $225,000. The principal creditors are the Merchants Bank, $200,000; Quebec bank, $172,000; Banque Nationale, $83,000. The two former most secured.

The Nez Perces Indian prisoners are becoming restive, and are looking for intelligence as to their future. They say that if the season is far advanced they are afraid that any change that may be made will cause annoyance.

The bankrupt Chicago firm of Hadley Bros. have paid a dividend of 25 per cent. to the creditors, and will probably pay 10 per cent. more soon. There offer of 40 per cent. was refused by the creditors some three months ago.

A telegram from Southwest harbor says: Capt. Leeman, commander in the Russian army, and the Russian officers have left for good. The paymaster, and two other officers, and eleven sailors, have gone to Philadelphia. The paymaster will return on the 15th of June.

Plymouth church examining committee met on the 29th ult., and resolved to enter charges against Mrs. Titon of publishing cards containing her name, and violating her vows in not submitting the charges to the committee before publishing them in the newspapers.

John G. Tappan has brought suit against Amos Abbott, collector of $25,000 for the college, whereby it holds the bequest of his father, John Tappan, who left $30,000 to found a professorship of the pastoral care. It is alleged that the college neglected to appoint a professor within the stipulated time, and that the bequest should be returned to the donor.

The formal presentation of the bust of Mazzini to the city of New York on the 29th ult., took place in Central Park, in presence of a large and fashionable assemblage. The bust is a gift of Italian residents in the United States. The busts were made by Mayor Ely, Wm. Cullen Bryant and others. A dinner and ball were given in the evening.

The treasury department has discontinued payment of standard silver for gold for treasury notes at the sub-treasury in this city. The object of paying out silver for greenbacks was to get the former into general circulation, but nearly all issued in this manner from the sub-treasury returned to it in payment of custom duties to persons concerned, thereby saving the premium on gold. For similar reasons the amount of silver now issued at Baltimore for treasury notes is limited to $5 at a single payment.

The sensation in Cincinnati on the 1st inst., was the suit brought against the newly installed postmaster J. P. Lodge by Jos. J. Crane, who begs to have judgment rendered in his favor in the sum of $20,000 against postmaster J. P. Lodge of Cincinnati, as compensation to himself, plaintiff, and penalty against J. P. Lodge for debauching the wife of the plaintiff, Joseph J. Crane, and alienating her affections. The petition sets forth that the seductive proceedings of postmaster Lodge commenced in October, 1874, and have been continued efficiently and incessantly ever since. It is alleged that the plaintiff's wife, Mrs. Crane, was seduced by the postmaster, and that postmaster Lodge has the woman in his employ in the Cincinnati post office.

A dispatch from Gen. McDowell is received at army headquarters on the 1st inst., which gave hopeful indications of a first success for the Union army. It stated that the Bannock Indians had been making threats to the settlers for some time past. The letter reported that the Indians about mentioned have gone into camp with about 200 warriors, well armed and equipped, between the Big Horn and the Snake river in the lava beds. The settlers counted sixty lodges of them and twenty more lodges of Buffalo Horse warriors have just joined them. A detachment of seventy soldiers was sent to protect the settlers, sent from Fort Boile.

grain producing countries, added to the previous state of depletion, has rendered the wheat trade remarkably dull and almost stagnant. The market for foreign wheat is very quiet, and light foreign shipments for London, there have been continually large, and the amount of business done is very small. The index of the course of prices, English wheat at the country markets declined two shillings, but farmers were not eager to sell. Much of the inactivity has doubtless been owing to the suspension about the Eastern question. A few days will probably determine the course of affairs, a movement in trade, even if downward, may be expected soon. Maize is lower and quiet in consequence of heavy American shipments. Sales of English wheat last week, 41,223 quarters at 61s 10d, against 57,197 quarters at 62s 10d the same time last year. Imports into the kingdom for the week ending May 18, were 953,775 bushels, wheat, 145,998 bushels.

Grand Hotel Building!

TO BE BUILT AT ONCE.

Mike Bierline has commenced work, excavating for the basement and foundation of his new brick 2 and a half story hotel on Chestnut street opposite the National Hotel. The building proper will be 32x34 with brick addition. The front part of the basement story will be used as a billiard hall and bar room and will be roomy and light. The next two stories will be arranged into a first class hotel, with sample room, parlor and dining hall, while the upper story will be arranged into bed rooms and supplied with first class beds with springs, and carpets upon the floors.

Work will be pushed on the building as rapidly as the weather will permit. The building will have a flat roof and will be finished off in first class style, and will be an ornament to our city and a credit to the projector.

MAJ. STRAIT will return home about the 20th of this month, and then will make Chandler's fur fly from that time on, until the meeting of the convention. We do enjoy this little "unpleasantness" of our republican friends.

MR. CHARLES MATTHEWS, who has been freeman on the Hastings & Dakota for several years, has been promoted, and has gone to take charge of an engine on the River Division.

The Faribault Democrat concludes an article upon the congressional situation in this district with the following philosophical postscript: "We are going to nominate some man whom 'Strait can beat with one hand tied behind him, or the democrats of the 'second district have lost their can 'ning'."

The late election in Oregon resulted in a democratic victory. The democrats carry the legislature having 10 majority on joint ballot, thus securing a U. S. Senator in place of Hippie-Mitchell, republican. They also elect a congressman, Wither. The Governor is republican.

ANOTHER sea-horror occurred last Friday in the English channel by the collision of two of the German iron-clad ships of war, causing the immediate sinking of one with the loss of nearly 400 men. Time has proved that great iron-clad ships of war are most dangerous to their crews and cost no body anything save the nation that owns them. They are at best a cumbersome, expensive and dangerous luxury.

A SOUTHERN REMINISCENCE.
The Columbus (Ga.) Enquirer-Sun, speaking of the anniversary (April 25) of Johnston's surrender to Sherman, recalls the following:
"It is curious to note how time has effected the two cabinets then in existence. Of the Johnston administration only one member, Montgomery Blair, survives, and he is under the ban of his former party, without being received in full fellowship into the ranks of the Democracy. Of the southern cabinet, only two—John C. Breckinridge and S. B. Mallory—have died. President Davis lives and is writing a vindication of his people. Benjamin is a renowned counsellor in London, while A. H. Stephens and J. H. Reagan are leading members of congress, and George Davis, of North Carolina, is at the head of the bar in that State."

DOWN HILL.
The decline of the Republican party is evident from the fact that in 1869, when Grant was inaugurated, that party had a majority of 42 in the U. S. Senate and 86 in the House. In 1873 these majorities had dwindled down to 30 in the Senate and 17 in the House. In 1876 it had fallen to 10 in the Senate, while the Democrats took control of the House with 70 majority. Now the Republicans have but 2 majority in the Senate, while the Democrats have 17 in the House. The terms of 25 Senators, 17 of whom are Republicans and 8 Democrats, expires next March. Of these, 2 Democrats have already been elected in place of Republicans—in California and Ohio—and of those yet to be elected it is certain that enough will be Democrats to insure to that party the control of the Senate after the first of March next. This very naturally alarms the Republicans and they are in a quandary at Washington as to the best course to pursue to restore, if possible, their declining fortunes. Their only hope lies in the election, next fall, of a sufficient number of members to get control of the House, and this is hardly possible if Democrats comprehend the situation and will do their duty.

M. C. RUSSELL, editor of the Lake City Leader, and formerly a resident of Chaska, has consented to those of his name as a candidate for congress from this district, before the Republican convention. Morris is an old time friend, and has the requisite ability to make a first class congressman. Now then there are three candidates in the field on that side of the house, viz: Strait, Chandler and Russell, with the odds strongly in Major Strait's favor.

Waconia Items.
The corpse of Mr. G. P. Johnson, was found floating in the lake last week by Rodolph Rock and E. Milka. An account of the inquest is given in another column in this issue.
Messrs Fowler and Logelin of Chaska, were in town last week.

Messrs. Noble, Inskip and Cowles, of the N. Y. Circus, were in town Sunday and remained until Monday morning. They speak very highly of our lake and village. They enjoyed a good fish and picnic on the island.

The meeting on Monday to consider the question of raising a bonus for the building of a grist and saw mill in our village was well attended. The meeting was called to order by the selection of Albert Kohler as chairman and A. E. Binsline as secretary. The chairman in stating the business to be considered, produced a letter received from Mr. Walter Scott of Minneapolis. Showing that the advertisement of raising a bonus had already done some good.

The meeting then resolved that a committee of five be appointed by the chair to collect subscriptions in order to determine how large a bonus can be offered. The chair selected the following committee, Andreas Schuetz, Geo. Kugler, Benedict Meiser, Carl Silz and at the request of the meeting Mr. Kohler's name was added to the committee. After considerable discussion it was resolved to adjourn to meet again on Friday June 21st at 2 o'clock p. m., to hear the report of the committee on subscription. It is to be hoped that our citizens will respond liberally. We have also promise of aid from outside localities.

W. C. Odell and lady of Chaska were in town on Monday.

Crops look good with the exception of corn, which is somewhat backward.

Our friend Lassen is confined to the house with a sharp attack of rheumatism. We wish him a speedy recovery.

University of Minnesota.

At the examination for admission into the State University, which according to previous notice, was held at the school house, last Monday, June 10, under charge of Prof. J. G. More, the following candidates were present. Ora Powers and Frank W. Powers of Chanhassen; Wm. Hinds of Shakopee, Waldo Holmes of Carver; Lizzie Deuls, Emma C. DuToit, and Josephine Goodrich of Chaska; Ansel P. Lyman of Excelsior, and Henry H. Asakson of Dahlgreen.

Prof. Moore stated that the number of applicants exceeded his most sanguine expectations. The examination in all the branches, reading excepted, was entirely written, and as there were no applicants for advanced standing, it was confined exclusively to the following elementary branches:—Reading, writing and Spelling, English Grammar, Arithmetic, Geography, U. S. History and Algebra. The examination was conducted in a thorough and systematic manner and the questions were well calculated to develop thought. Any successful candidate is entitled to the privilege of entering the State University at any time within the next two years, without further examination.

It is the intention of the Board of Regents to discontinue the lowest class of the collegiate department at the close of next year, and to drop all preparatory work, which should be done in the high schools and academies of the state; and to admit no applicant to any regular class of collegiate department, who can receive the same instruction in substance, in the public schools of the school district in which he legally resides.

An appropriation of nine thousand dollars was made last winter by our legislature for assisting a certain number of graded schools, in different parts of the state, that would add to its course the requisite number of studies, that would enable any student graduating from said school to enter the University. Why can we not have such a school here? Their annual appropriation would be from four to five hundred dollars a year, our teachers are anxious for it, and it certainly would be a great benefit to our town.

THE BEST IN THE WORLD.
Messrs. Hammer and Boeristette, our harness and saddlery ware dealers, are agents for the best "water proof" ever manufactured. It is called the Naind Oil, and as a leather preservative, it cannot be beat. It is good for harness, belting and boot and shoes. Try a bottle of it, and become satisfied.

Young America Items.

Nice weather at last.

Pursuant to invitation, the ladies met at the house of Mrs. Fr. Rausch where they had a very pleasant party last Monday.

Our picnic last Sunday was a success in every respect. The weather was very pleasant and quite a crowd assembled at the P. M. Hall in the afternoon to march out to the picnic grounds, headed by the Young America Brass Band. After the arrival at the grounds, Mr. Fritz Schuetz of Carver delivered an able oration upon the festival. The whole occasion was enlivened by the songs of the Pioneer Marcher, and the singing class under the direction of Julius Ackermann. In the evening the party returned incognito led by Captain G. Trick, and our jovial drum Major G. Toft did his best to keep the boys in line. A grand ball was given in the evening.

On Thursday May 30th, the feast of the "Assumption of Christ" was celebrated here by our catholic fellow citizens. During the day 10 children made their first communion. Rev. Father Braun preached in both the English and German languages. The congregation is large and a new church building is absolutely necessary.

The Choice.
Ben Ezra, mourning his child,
Above the body of his child,
His face with pale uncreased
Complained and could not understand Why Death's relentless hand
A thousand common lives should spare
To smother a life so fair.

"The old outlive the young;
The sweetest son is hushed ere he be long
The loveliest had," he thought,
"Is come to naught;
The page of brightest promise falls unrolled
To smother a life so fair."

At last
He saw the dead back into the past.
Again he smiled above his new-born son,
And was aware of one Who standing by the cradle, spoke:

"This gift again I take
When but a few swift years are sped,
Now choose," the Presence said,
"Since by the changes of fate's decree,
This bitter loss must be,
Were it not better I should touch
The child, and mar it, but it grew to such A loss, that wouldst thou smother too much
The greater bliss?"

"Or shall I crown it with my rarest crown
Of glory to bring down
A deeper shadow when it fades
Then common shades,
So wouldst thou have—and all—
The greater bliss?"

"Nay," cried Ben Ezra, "since this grace
Sheds but so little space,
Keep back no gift of treasures manifold
That heaven doth hold;
But pour the brightness of all spheres
Into my child's few years,
That I may drink of glory measure first Through afterward a thirst!"

The vision fled.
Ben Ezra was alone with his dead;
And, while grief he grieved,
Praised God with tears, that such a child
Had lived!

THE GUTTERSNEIP.
On the afternoon of a day in Lent I was sawing up Broadway. I had just passed Stewart's store when I met my friend, Henry Godkin, the rector. He gave me a searching glance.
"I have a letter for you," I said to him.
"I was on my way to your house."
The rector trembled. His fingers reached eagerly toward the letter. He opened it, gave a profound sigh, and pressed his hand to his heart.
"Thank you, Frank," he said to me,
"you have lifted a weight from my life.
I can say no more now. Come and see this evening."

With these words he turned from me
and entered the store.
The rector was smiling, and as he reached the door he threw the step of the cigar into the street.
A little musician and newsboy marked the falling star. The dealer dropped the other his papers, and drove forward to seize it. The dealer thought smaller, was more agile than his rival and carried away the prize.
At this moment I noticed a little girl seated on the lower step of a stage that was rattling towards us. As it came opposite me, a policeman's whistle attracted the attention of the driver. That worthy, with a master maneuver, drove the stage door tight, whipped up his horses, and then let loose the strap.
The little girl was exultant and off her guard. As the door flew open it struck her on the head and knocked her off the step into the street. As she fell her hand opened and half a dozen pennies scattered over the pavement.
The child said nothing, but rose quickly, and with a frightened look, began searching among the pennies. One of them had fallen into the sewer; another had struck the foot of the newsboy, who had at once stooped down, picked it up and run away. She could not find her money, then these she held in her hand, surveyed with a look of mingled love and grief, then, without a word, sat down on the curbstone and began to cry.
The musician, who stopped smoking and walked slowly to where the girl was seated.
"What is your name?" he asked with the voice of a protector.
"They call me 'Bug,' but that ain't my name."
"Well, don't cry, Bug," and the boy stopped smoking and carefully put the cigar stump in his pocket.
"Don't cry, Bug. Be a man."
"They will beat up on me," she said, "I home too pennies," she said, "and it's afternoon."
The boy slowly turned his hand into his pocket. He looked long and hard There was a profound struggle going on in his mind. At length he drew out his hand.
"Here are six pennies, Bug," he said.
The little earth-shaker, who had smiled
—one would as soon have expected a mole to smile—but she gave a wrinkle. It was clear this was the supreme moment of her life.
"Don't they beat you," she said. The dream of happiness was too sweet to last.
"Don't be afraid. I kick, I do," said the boy proudly.
The girl said nothing. Pleasure was unnatural to her. She had forgotten her self a few minutes. The care of life and business again claimed her, and she turned to go away.
"Good-by, Bug," said the boy, looking kindly at her and waving his hand.
I looked at the man and gave a heartfelt sigh. "Poor little mud urnish,"
I thought, "do not the tears of angels wash you clean?"
As I thus reflected to a higher order of beings, a somewhat arduous task, I was aware of a man approaching me.
This man was of a sober guise, and to a practical eye evidently belonged to the penumbral classes. A divinity student, a politician, a temperance lecturer, a gambler, or a detective—one of these professions had the honor of his membership.
Behind the penumbra, walked the girl her shadow, a negro, who at sight of me rushed pale.
"How do you do, Mr. Hoag?" I said pleasantly to the penumbra.
"How do you do, Hazlett?" returned the new comer. "I'm glad to see you away from your books. Why sit moping over your studies? My young friend, do you want to know two maxims that are worth more than all the classics? I'll tell you them. Never do your business between more than four eyes, including your own. The second is like unto it—never write a letter. All the wisdom the world lies in those two laws. All men are on the make. Will you not come with me and have a drink?"
"No, thanks," I replied.
"Well, wait here till I come back. I want you to go to the Park with me."
As Mr. Hoag started to find what in New York rarely requires a distant search a barroom, he turned his head. "Remember, Hazlett, I never pass by a blind man without giving him something!"
Having again attached himself to humanity by this golden thread, he left me standing alone.
Mr. Hoag was a fellow boarder of mine in the respectable house of Madame Freight in East Broadway. I had taken a great fancy to him from the first, and he though naturally reserved, soon yielded to my persistence. He was a man of the world, quiet and observant; his conversation was always interesting, and when the dew was on him, flowered into many quaint and piquant stories.

After a few weeks I always had a pipe and an armchair ready for him, and he made it his habit to drop into my room to smoke before he went to bed.
Now, Mr. Hoag had among other luxuries a negro servant named Parish, who had a deep reverence for his master.
I myself came to employ this negro in odd jobs, and after a few presents and a little kindly interest Parish transferred some of his devotion to me.
"Parish, I said to him one afternoon
as he was making a fire in my room,
"Parish, you love your master very much?"
"Yes, sah," he replied with fervor.
"What makes you love him so?"
I asked in a tone of kind inquiry.
"He gives me all the tobacco and whisky that I want," he answered.
Parish had been a slave, and his answer made it clear that slavery though it may be obscure, does not destroy the noble ambitions of our human nature.
"Parish, I said to him after another pause, "did you ever experience religion?"
"No, massa, he said, "but my sister, Rosie, she experienced it. She is a very old Virginian." They are known all over old Virginia."
"Parish, you know I have spent all my life studying these things."
"Yes, massa, you very wise, I know."
"Can you read?"
"No, massa."
"Parish, I said, fixing my gaze upon him, "do you know what happens to a man who does nothing but drink whisky and smoke tobacco, when he dies?"
"Don't look at me so, massa," said the negro, trembling.
"Parish, I said to him lowering my voice, "how would you enjoy a play like this? Suppose yourself in a room so cold that whisky freezes. Your hair turns into icicles. Your fingers break like sticks of candy. Touch your ears and nose with a straw, they break off. Your frozen words rattle on the ground like shot."
The negro began to shiver.
"On one side of you stands a demon with a lash that bites to the bone; another opposite with a heavy club smites your flesh."
The negro placed both his hands where the blows were falling.
"Lord a mercy!" he muttered.
"You are here, the fangs of a bloodhound
meet in your flesh."
Parish rolled up his eyes and changed the position of his hands.
"Parish, I said in a tone of deep pathos,
"you are here, the fangs of a bloodhound
meet in your flesh."
"Parish, I said in a tone of deep pathos,
"you are here, the fangs of a bloodhound
meet in your flesh."
"Parish, I said in a tone of deep pathos,
"you are here, the fangs of a bloodhound
meet in your flesh."

The effect of this gentle advice upon
Mr. Hoag was strange and uncomfortable.
It transpired that most patient of men into a contented tiger. His eyes shot fire; his teeth ground themselves together;
his hand seemed to hunger for a knife.
"Do you know what that boy has?"
he passed in Mr. Godkin's ear, and pointed the little fiddler.
The boy was standing now on one foot and now on the other, singing lustily.
His cracked fiddle had for his accompaniment each tuneless string seemed a voice of melody. The guttersneip was as merry as a lark. Hunger! What was that? He had done a noble act, and joy flowed from every hole in his rags. His music was contagious. I could scarcely refrain from, elating the rector by the waist and dancing a merry-go-round. Even the stolid policeman lifted one foot.
Mr. Hoag in the rector's ear.
Never shall I forget the look of unmitigated pain on the face of Mr. Godkin as he turned and walked away from us.
None the less, the guttersneip played and sang. What to him the anguish of a father whose child is living and dead? What to him the agony of a man of leisure robbed of his income? His cracked fiddle was his father; his fortune
the sterner penury.
"What is the matter, Mr. Hoag?" I asked kindly, as after a short struggle, habit returned to him his sober manners.
Mr. Hoag looked at me with the glazed and impressive eye of that species of dementia known as the shadow.
"Come here," he said, turning to the fiddler.
The boy approached him, and Mr.
Hoag put his hand in his pocket. The boy stretched out his arm; his elbow was illuminated by a halo eloquent as the eye of Polyphemus. Mr. Hoag thrust his fingers into the socket.
"My purse has got a hole in it," he said, sadly, and dropped some pennies into the boy's hand.
The act touched my heart.
"Come, Mr. Hoag," I said addressing him, "I will give you some money.
Something has dashed your spirits."
"You know, Mr. Hazlett," he said to me as we sat down at Ostreich's, "you know I never pass a blind man without giving him something."
"I know," I said sternly, "don't you know better than to serve water at a gentleman's lunch? Come, old fellow, and I turned to Mr. Hoag, "what is the matter with you? I feel a little odd, a sort of a queer, but I have heard me speak of my cousin Smiler, the lawyer. This morning he told me that his last five thousand dollars that he got to invest in his country were worth one hundred and fifty dollars in the market."
My remark gave Mr. Hoag a gleam of pleasure.
"They are all on the make," he said
as I looked at his glass with Sauterne.
"But there are some things that seem to me impossible. How can a man swindle his friend?"
"Well," I replied gaily, "my only care now is that I don't pick my pocket of a dollar. After Smiler there is no one else to fear."
Mr. Hoag looked at me with growing confidence and not a little admiration.
"I had a friend," he began, each word held back by professional caution. "And yet I hardly like to call him a friend."
This man some time since had been for a lady's maid, and he was a large, slip-sided looking woman, with such a fine and jet black eyes." Mr. Hoag, who was a short, spare man with sandy hair, strained himself up an inch or two of John Brown.
"De Lord bless de abolitionist and old John Brown," said the negro, looking at me with reverence.
As he spoke a stage rolled past, re-stealthily, and Parish with naked feet pushed open the door and crept into the room.
"Here they are, massa," said he, handing me half a dozen letters.
"This is it," I said, and selecting one
I replaced it by an envelope and paper
of equal size, and then put the borrowed document in my pocket. "Put these letters back, Parish," I said. "You are served, I have hoodwinked the evil one."
The negro stole softly away. I locked
my door and went to sleep.
As I was standing on Broadway that pleasant afternoon, these shadows,
separated from their substance by only a few hours, rose before me. I was looking at them with a kindly eye, when I saw Mr. Hoag issuing from a neighboring sample room followed by his man
Friday. As he drew near me, my friend,
the rector came out of Stewart's, escorting a richly-dressed lady.
"That was a beautiful sermon of yours

turning with her foot on carriage step.
"Do call and see me soon about our

pleasant afternoon, these shadows,
separated from their substance by only a few hours, rose before me. I was looking at them with a kindly eye, when I saw Mr. Hoag issuing from a neighboring sample room followed by his man
Friday. As he drew near me, my friend,
the rector came out of Stewart's, escort-
ing a richly-dressed lady.
"That was a beautiful sermon of yours
last Sunday, Mr. Godkin," she said, turning with her foot on carriage step.
"Do call and see me soon about our society for the prevention of evil."
As she spoke a stage rolled past, re-stealthily, and Parish with naked feet
pushed open the door and crept into the room.
"Here they are, massa," said he, handing me half a dozen letters.
"This is it," I said, and selecting one
I replaced it by an envelope and paper
of equal size, and then put the borrowed
document in my pocket. "Put these letters back, Parish," I said. "You are
served, I have hoodwinked the evil one."
The negro stole softly away. I locked
my door and went to sleep.

Socialism has taken a deep hold in Germany, and is threatening the palace of the Empire, which is really honey-combed with that element. The late attempt on the life of the Emperor has developed the danger. The assassin, Nobeling's act was not a mere individual matter. He is the representative of a class, desperate and dangerous. The burdens imposed upon the people by the wars of Germany and by the maintenance of the vast military establishment are driving the people to madness, and quickens the formation of socialist clubs, and provokes desperate socialist enterprises.

The Grand Lodge of Free Masons, at their recent assemblage in the City of New York, attested their belief in the existence of a Supreme Being, and rebuked their French brethren for their blasphemous infidelity. Mr. Stowell offered a resolution to the effect that, "it had come to the knowledge of the Grand Lodge, that the Grand Orient of France had stricken from their constitution that part regarding a belief in the existence of a Supreme Being, and this Grand Lodge, believing that action to be contrary to the teachings of ancient Free Masonry, that Lodge be refused recognition." The resolution was unanimously passed.

Since the accession of King William to the Imperial throne of Germany, four attempts have been made upon his life. The first was June, 1849, at Nieder-Ingelheim, while he was on his way to Baden to take command of the Prussian forces. The next was in 1861, at Baden-Baden, by a crazy student, who charged him with incapacity to effect the union of Germany. The third was only a few weeks ago, and the last was on the 2d inst., from all of which, either through the intervention of Providence, or the awkward stupidity of his would-be assassins, the Emperor has escaped without serious injury. Unless better marksmen are put upon his track with something more effective than buck shot the tough old monarch is likely to die a natural death.

The Supreme Court of Wisconsin has decided that corporal punishment inflicted upon a pupil by a teacher in the public schools furnishes sufficient grounds for an action for assault and battery. This decision is already bearing its legitimate fruit. In some schools pupils bid defiance to their teachers, and their authority is thus successfully defied, and demoralization steps in to take the place of order. As well forbid a policeman to use force to take a culprit to the station. The decision is not founded in wisdom. While not advocating severe, or frequent corporal punishment, there will be exceptional cases when it is not only deserved, but imperative. A teacher worthy of his position can be, and should be, trusted to administer wholesome discipline according to the necessity of each individual case, and should properly be held responsible for any abuse of his disciplinary authority.

They have adopted a new mode of dealing with tramps in Providence, Rhode Island. Instead of giving gratuitous lodgings in police stations, a wood yard has been opened, and all applicants for accommodations are notified that they would be expected to work next morning. When morning arrives the lodgers are escorted to the wood yard, and after three hours, told they receive a hearty dinner. So far the tramps have worked willingly, and not one has tried to evade earning his board and lodging, and many have expressed themselves thankful for the opportunity to toil. The city of Providence sells the wood saved by the tramps, but makes a point not to undersell the regular dealers. Is it any doubt that if remunerative labor could be readily furnished, it would materially deplete the great army of tramps.

Lord Rosebery presided lately at the annual meeting of the Sunday Society, in London, which advocates the opening of the national museums and picture galleries on Sunday. Two centuries ago, he said, the Puritans forbade a Sunday where, after church, innocent recreation was allowed. With the best intentions in the world, they took away everything but the church, to which modern civilization has added the tap-room. Lord Rosebery further said that the Puritans had left the first inheritance of the morals of the Restoration, and what has been far more permanent and abiding, the great inheritance of cant. This is what the members of the Sunday Society have to fight against. They would not close the public houses on Sunday, but they would open the national museums and art galleries, which are the people's own property.

The card published by the faculty of the medical college of Ohio, in reference to the J. Scott Harrison case, is the Cincinnati papers think, rather cool. Harrison, a leading citizen of Ohio, son of one of our Presidents, was buried in a family vault. The next day his mutilated body was found in the dissecting room of the Ohio Medical College. The faculty apologize, it is true, for this accident, but declare that the real blame, after all, rests upon the public. The cause of the outrage was the lack of bodies for dissection. There are nearly 300 students at the college, and scarcely half a dozen fresh corpses to be obtained a week. The deficiency, the faculty insist, must be remedied, and at once. Evidently the Harrison affair has been misunderstood. There was an outrage committed, but it was on the students of the medical college, who were refused their share of "subjects."

THE WORLD'S DOINGS.

CRIMES AND CRIMINALS.

Several counterfeiters have been arrested at Omaha. The colored porter in the Omaha post office has been arrested for stealing letters. Corruption and dishonesty is being developed among the official managers of the Iowa State Prison.

Three colored men were hanged at Goldsboro, N. C., on the 14th convicted of the murder of the Wamley family. Detectives have discovered $52,000 of stocks and bonds stolen from the Seckman bank, Cambridge, Mass., last month.

In Wheeling, W. Va., lately, as two German residents, named Kraus and Breen, were going home, they were suddenly and without provocation fired upon by an unknown party of drunken men. Kraus is fatally and Breen seriously wounded. The assailants escaped and are unknown.

A Galveston dispatch says, the Sheriff's party had a lively fight with the Bass party who robbed the train on the Northern Texas at Gold Creek. One of the robbers was killed, and several horses wounded and killed and the balance captured. The robbers who escaped on foot are being hotly pursued by the rangers.

Last week a negro named Allen Lyle, took lodging at the house of a negro named Jane Brown, in Washington, Mo. About 10 o'clock another negro named King entered Lyle's room and shot him twice, killing him instantly. It is supposed King and the woman Brown planned the murder to get Lyle's money. No arrests at last accounts.

A Postville, Pa., telegram of June 11th says Dennis, alias Buckley Donnelly, a Schuylkill county Mollie Maguire, was hanged this morning for the murder of Thomas Sanger, a mine boss, in 1875. The execution had been postponed by the governor. As the drop fell Donnelly struggled furiously and slowly strangled to death. The body was taken in charge by a brother of the deceased. The execution was comparatively private.

R. G. Derner of St. Paul, committed suicide on the 15th inst., at Blomville, about ten miles from St. Paul, Wisconsin. He left home on the Wednesday previous depressed and gloomy, with a loaded revolver, threatening to take his life. When found he had two bullet holes in his head, the revolver lying by his side. He was 38 years old. He leaves a wife and one child. Financial embarrassment is supposed to be the cause of the suicidal act.

A dispatch from St. Louis, of June 16th says: King and Albert Gentry, two young men living near neighbors about two miles from St. Louis, Mo., have had considerable trouble with each other for two years past. Yesterday, Moore went to Gentry's place and complained the latter's dogs were barking his dogs, some words ensued, Moore shot Gentry in the abdomen, inflicting a mortal wound. Moore fled.

A Kokook, Iowa, telegram of June 16th, says: The most daring jail delivery ever attempted here was effected about 9 o'clock last night by prisoners confined in the jail. As Sheriff Biggins was locking up the prisoners, the prisoners, eight in number, were in the cage where they are kept during the day, and as the sheriff stepped to the rear to unlock the door leading to the cells the prisoners stepped out of the door, he entered and locked him in, and by making a break in a body succeeded in escaping. Two of them were recaptured.

A St. Peter dispatch of the 10th says: One of the most frightful murders, that ever took place in this part of the country, took place at Corraline station on Saturday evening last. A German named Schumaker killed several of his friends to a merry-making at his house, but for a reason of his own did not invite the two boys named Mortimer, who thereupon became very angry, and after the dancing had commenced they approached the house with clubs, threatening to kill all who approached. The boys began to quarrel, and when upon which they set upon him, inflicting wounds of which he died this morning. The boys fled, but were captured near Mankato, and will, doubtless, suffer the extreme penalty of the law.

CASUALTIES.

A $50,000 fire occurred at Albany, N. Y., on the 14th. An eight thousand dollar fire occurred at Dubuque, Iowa, on the 15th. Lieut. Totten was killed on the 14th by being run over by a railroad express train near West Prairie.

The walls of two large brick stores in Brooklyn, N. Y., fell on the 14th inst., burying a number of persons in the ruins. Gen. C. C. Burleigh died on the 14th inst., from injuries received at the great blood accident at Florence, Mass.

The Brooklyn bridge N. Y., on the 14th inst., was struck by a low flying plane, which made a heavy crash, by which two men were killed, and two seriously injured.

At Quebec on the 10th inst., a number of hands on the steamer Saratoga descended to the lower hold to unload oranges, and were overcome by the foul gas. Quartermaster Geo. Millway and a laborer named Plante were suffocated before they could be got out.

A Port Huron dispatch of June 10th says the Propeller Montgomery took fire and sank to the bottom, while at Point Edward's dock. Her line was cut, and she drifted down the river four miles, where the tug Crusader shored her on the Canadian bank. She originated in some brown corn that was washed on deck. It is supposed that some person had been smoking a pipe and probably some of the fire fell into it. Every effort was made to extinguish the fire before the propeller was cut loose from her moorings but without success. Her cargo consisted of corn, wheat, flour and merchandise.

PERSONAL AND POLITICAL.

The Empress of Russia is reported seriously ill. Ex-King George of Hanover, died on the 12th inst. Hailed of the Cincinnati Commercial has been acquitted in a libel suit. Crowley P. Dyke, of Michigan, has been confirmed Marshal of Arizona. The tradition of the German Emperor is regarded more favorable and encouraging.

A break has occurred in the Welland canal. The estimated yield of wheat in Tennessee for the year is 5,000,000 bushels. It is proposed to erect in Central Park a statue of the late William Cullen Bryant.

Over 20,000 cotton operatives, in a mass meeting at Blackburn, Eng., on the 11th inst., resolved to continue the strike. It is stated that two American steamers have arrived at Cronstadt, Russia with arms, ammunition and war like stores for Russia.

A Washington telegram states that Commissioner LeDuc's estimate from reliable data is that this year's wheat crop will be four hundred million bushels. Several heavy frosts were reported in New York, on Friday the 14th inst., among them the heavy frosts in the western part of the State. The crop of white goods, liabilities $250,000.

The net profit of the Western Union Telegraph company for the quarter ending June 30th, based on returns for April and May, are estimated at $507,013. United States troops have passed into Texas 5000 strong to recover American horses in possession of the marauder Escobedo, and to support and strengthen the Diaz government.

The statement is current in London that a dissolution of parliament will soon be announced, and the report finds such general acceptance that several members have come to look after their constituencies. A dispatch from Greenwich, Washington county, N. Y., relative to the failure of the National Bank of Washington, D. C., was run by a ring, that great rashness had been practiced by the officers and the entire capital of $300,000 had been wiped out.

Reports are confirmed concerning Indian depredations in Idaho, Utah and Nevada. The raiding parties have been active, and the military of the division of the Pacific will be required to subdue the savages. Companies L and H, Fourth artillery, Capt. James commanding, left for Winnemucca, Nev., three companies of the Eighth infantry are en route from Arizona. One company of infantry has moved from Fort Bidwell to Camp McDowell. All the troops at Fort Harney are in motion.

Dispatches received at military headquarters in San Francisco confirm the press reports concerning Indian depredations in Idaho, Utah and Nevada. The uprising is considered almost universal among the San Francisco and its immediate vicinity. The division of the Pacific will be required to subdue the savages. ## Democratic Co. Convention.

The democratic voters of Carver county are requested to send delegates to a county convention to be held at John Larfeld's, in the town of Delmore, on Saturday July 12th, 1878, at 10 o'clock a. m., for the purpose of selecting 8 delegates to attend the congressional convention to be held at Shakopee on July 18th 1878, and also to select 8 delegates to attend the state convention.

The basis of representation is one delegate for each 30 votes and major fraction thereof cast for W. L. Baughman for Governor at the last general election. The towns are entitled to delegates as follows:

Benton..... 2
Chaska..... 2
Carver..... 2
Hollywood..... 2
Lakewood..... 2
Waconia..... 2
Young America..... 2

By order of the committee,
F. E. DU TOIT, Chairman.

They had an Indian scare down in Wisconsin last week. Some brainless scamp started the story that the Chippewas were upon the war path and had murdered several families and destroyed a large amount of property. As he supposed it turned out to be a "scare" of the first magnitude.

The Carver Press predicts a majority of 500 in this county for Hon. C. H. Linn, should he be nominated for congress. R. member friend Benson that is now able to be about. We congratulate Mr. B. on his recovery and hope it may be long before we are called upon again to chronicle the like.

Read the notice of Co-partnership between H. Fabel and Albert Meyer in this issue. These gentlemen are both well known to the citizens of Norwood and vicinity, and need no further recommendation. We wish the new firm much success.

Why don't some of the wealthy men of Carver County step in and build a mill. It is a paying investment!

NORWOOD DEPARTMENT

J. F. JABERG, EDITOR.

What is quoted at 80 cts with fair deliveries.

Remember the great show on Friday June 28th.

Mr. Orevill Goodrich of Chaska was in town Tuesday canvassing for his arrangements for putting up a telephone from this place to Young America, which will prove of great benefit to the citizens of both places.

A new brand for sale by one of our business men, for particulars address F. Lange, Norwood.

Mr. M. H. Maynes of Chaska and who represents the Continental Insurance Co. called on us on Friday last week, and stated that he has been visiting our southern farmers and had good success in insuring their property.

Mr. S. B. Newcomb of Hamilton Iowa, was in town Tuesday canvassing for his advertising and business directory cards, in which he was highly successful as the advantages of this way of advertising could not but be apparent to all at a glance, besides furnishing a complete business directory to strangers.

We must and we will celebrate the 4th of July. The citizens of Norwood have concluded to hold a basket picnic, which will be held at the old picnic ground in Pipers grove. A cordial invitation is extended to all and a pleasant time is guaranteed.

We learn from one of the school directors of Tiger Lake Dist that some unruly boys had the cheek of throwing clubs through the windows of the school house. Boys better you look a little out, and don't get caught at such tricks again.

Sunday and Monday were terrible hot days. On Sunday the thermometer stood at the sublime degree of 94.

Mr. Chas Bachmann of Young America was seized with a sudden illness on Friday afternoon last and continued insensible until Sunday morning, but is now able to be about. We congratulate Mr. B. on his recovery and hope it may be long before we are called upon again to chronicle the like.

Read the notice of Co-partnership between H. Fabel and Albert Meyer in this issue. These gentlemen are both well known to the citizens of Norwood and vicinity, and need no further recommendation. We wish the new firm much success.

CURRENT TOPICS.

Congress had about 4,000 bills presented for its consideration during the past session, but the actual amount of legislation accomplished was comparatively small.

The Chicago Post, which is owned and edited by women, has just run a new ad, and the Detroit News expects to see it arrayed in a new dress at least once a month. It must be kept in style, you know.

A Germantown gentleman has a dog that will not permit him to enter the house if his wife is out of temper. The animal foresees a "time" between his master and mistress, and out of consideration for the latter prevents his entrance.

The horse chestnut, whose timber value, as compared with that of the oak, has lately been the subject of much discussion in England, was first brought to Europe from Asia about 1550. Deer in English parks are so fond of the fruit that they have been known to show fight when driven off. In Bushy Park, close to Hampton Court, there is a superb avenue of these trees which in May thousands flock to see.

A moderate amount of fat is generally considered evidence of good health. About one-twentieth part of the weight of a man and the sixteenth of a woman is considered the normal proportion. Its office, aside from its value in giving symmetry to the figure, is to prevent the rapid escape of animal heat, and also to supply the waste of tissue from sickness, unclean exertion and temporary deprivation of food.

Consul General Barreau in London has furnished our Government some very interesting statistics concerning wages and the cost of living in England. He fails, however, to bear out the assertion of the Philadelphia Press that wages in England are "from ninety to a hundred and twenty per cent. less than in this country." The Consul General does go so far as to indicate that they are from forty-five to fifty per cent. less.

Were it not for the humble bees there would be little or no red clover. They fertilize the blossoms, conveying the pollen from one to another, and thus tend to keep down the price of clover seed. The moral of this is that when a man finds an industrious colony of humble bees inside his trousers leg he should not swear and tear around, but simply be led to reflect more deeply upon the wondrous adaptation of means to ends afforded by provident nature.

The total cost of the Canadian Pacific Railway is estimated at $100,000,000. The vast sum of $15,000,000 has already been expended in surveys and contracts, and all that is now to show for it, says the Railway Age, is some seventy miles of track from Thunder Bay on Lake Superior, westward into the wilderness, and a few miles of track from Winnipeg, in Manitoba, eastward. The cost of the Union and Central Pacific roads with equipment was about $250,000,000.

Mrs. Nancy E. Clem, notorious through a murder trial and acquittal in Indianapolis, is again under arrest. After her escape from the gallows she turned her attention very successfully to swindling. Her mode was to make the rich people believe that she was engaged in some secret but exceedingly profitable business and offer, purely as a favor, to invest some of their money in the mythical enterprise. She thus obtained from six dupes an aggregate of about $20,000.

Bishop Clark tells a story of a city "gymmen" who was once invited to preach in a country church, and the choir thought they would get up a very elaborate performance for his benefit. They were more ambitious than successful, and when they had finished, before giving his text, the preacher looked up to the gallery and said: "My friends, if the angels in Heaven should hear you sing, they would come down and wring your necks." It was not a courteous thing to do, but the provocation was probably very great.

The late Earl Russell's name is to be added to the long list of illustrious Englishmen who, dying, have placed their names on record against the costly shams of the modern funeral, which plunders the living without showing respect to the dead. "I wish my funeral," he wrote, "to be as simple and as inexpensive as possible, without any hired mourners. I wish my body to be interred in the family vault at Chiswick." And interred in the family vault at Chiswick he was, though the Queen offered a State funeral and the tomb in Westminster Abbey that every great Englishman covets.

A difference of opinion on an important point has caused a rupture among the European Masons, and it may be necessary for the American branch of the fraternity to take some action on the question at issue. The French Masons who, last year, proclaimed publicly their disavowal of all belief in a Supreme Being, have been successively repudiated by the Irish, English and Scotch Masons, and read out of the fraternity. As a belief in God has always been an essential part of Masonry, and in view of the fact that by the action of the French Grand Lodge, silence on the subject will be construed as a support of the French branch, it is not improbable that some public notice of the matter will be taken by the Masonic fraternity of the United States.

Mr. Dillinger went home the other night considerably intoxicated and afflicted with double vision. He sat for some time with his sleepy gaze riveted on Mrs. Hill (his) and then quietly remarked: "Well (hic) I hope I hope if you two gals don't look enough alike to be (hic) twins."

A renewal of labor troubles and riots in Quebec is feared.

Hugh Cooper, an employee in the Chicago postoffice, has been arrested for robbing the mails.

A Palisade, Idaho, dispatch says, 25 well armed Indians crossed the railroad track near Agents going north.

A man named Bedehmeten deliberately shot and killed a man named Vass, at St. Louis, to gratify an old grudge.

A Silver City dispatch says the Annotina Indians have all left the reservation. The Blue Mountains are full of them.

At Toronto, Ont., the converted Brahmin priest T. V. Ray, convicted of bigamy, has been sentenced to three months imprisonment.

A $200,000 fire occurred in Akron, Ohio, on the 18th inst. J. P. Seiling, merchant, was arrested charged with firing his own store, thus causing the conflagration.

Thieves are getting to be very troublesome in Illinois, boarding railroad trains, committing robberies, destroying farm products, and committing various depredations.

At Harrisburg, John Isaac and Peter Hoven were attacked in their own house by two tramps—the former fatally beaten, and the house valued at $4,000 in bonds.

The President of France, McMahon upon the recommendation of the ministers, has determined to pardon 800 Communists on occasion of the national festival the 30th inst., in honor of the exhibition.

It is claimed by the Cincinnati relatives of the late Mrs. Patrick Kennedy, that she has been found in pickle, by a Cincinnati detective in the medical college at Ann Arbor, Michigan.

Mrs. McNamee who was a fly her husband at Tamaroa, Ill., (who afterwards killed himself) is still alive, but her recovery is not expected. Jealousy on the part of the husband led to the commission of murder and suicide.

At Nashville, Tenn., Plason and Soder, charged with outraging the person of Mrs. Graved, were taken from the jail by a body of masked men and hung. They protested their innocence, and doubts of their guilt are entertained.

The hostile Indians are active. At Austin, Nevada, rumors are current that the Shoshones have left Snake Valley in a body and gone north. It is supposed they are on the way to join the hostile Black Bands.

The moral of this is that when a man finds an industrious colony of humble bees inside his trousers leg he should not swear and tear around, but simply be led to reflect more deeply upon the wondrous adaptation of means to ends afforded by provident nature.

The total cost of the Canadian Pacific Railway is estimated at $100,000,000. The vast sum of $15,000,000 has already been expended in surveys and contracts, and all that is now to show for it, says the Railway Age, is some seventy miles of track from Thunder Bay on Lake Superior, westward into the wilderness, and a few miles of track from Winnipeg, in Manitoba, eastward. The cost of the Union and Central Pacific roads with equipment was about $250,000,000.

Mrs. Nancy E. Clem, notorious through a murder trial and acquittal in Indianapolis, is again under arrest. After her escape from the gallows she turned her attention very successfully to swindling. Her mode was to make the rich people believe that she was engaged in some secret but exceedingly profitable business and offer, purely as a favor, to invest some of their money in the mythical enterprise. She thus obtained from six dupes an aggregate of about $20,000.

Bishop Clark tells a story of a city "gymmen" who was once invited to preach in a country church, and the choir thought they would get up a very elaborate performance for his benefit. They were more ambitious than successful, and when they had finished, before giving his text, the preacher looked up to the gallery and said: "My friends, if the angels in Heaven should hear you sing, they would come down and wring your necks." It was not a courteous thing to do, but the provocation was probably very great.

The late Earl Russell's name is to be added to the long list of illustrious Englishmen who, dying, have placed their names on record against the costly shams of the modern funeral, which plunders the living without showing respect to the dead. "I wish my funeral," he wrote, "to be as simple and as inexpensive as possible, without any hired mourners. I wish my body to be interred in the family vault at Chiswick." And interred in the family vault at Chiswick he was, though the Queen offered a State funeral and the tomb in Westminster Abbey that every great Englishman covets.

CONGRESSIONAL.

SENATE, JUNE 17.—The committee on the judiciary reported an amendment to the bill sundry bill appropriating $300,000 to defray the expenses of the U. S. courts. The House bill to organize a life saving service passed. A large number of appropriations were passed for various objects. The committee on appropriations reported in favor of allowing expenses and compensation of the committee appointed by Grant to go to Louisiana, $6,000. This led to a long discussion on the Louisiana imbroglio, in which Senator Conkling and Blaine took a part, each opposing the appropriation and each showing much interest against the administration of its management of Louisiana affairs. The appropriation was defeated, 32 to 32. Sundry other appropriations were agreed to.

THE PRESIDENTIAL ELECTION.

Investigating the Election of 1876.

Under the Potter Resolution—James E. Anderson and Secretary Sherman on the stand.

WASHINGTON, June 17.—The Potter investigating committee had a short session. H. C. Clark, private secretary of Gov. Kellogg, was cross examined by McMahon. The investigation was adjourned till Wednesday. The members of the committee might be in the House during the closing hours of the session of Congress.

FRIDAY, JUNE 21.—The Potter investigating committee held a session. Thomas A. Jones of New Orleans, was put upon the stand. Republicans in the parish had told witnesses they were afraid to register their names on account of intimidation. McMahon interrupted the witness. He asked if he had been called in Senator Sherman's interest. Reed replied he had. A long and acrimonious controversy between McMahon and Reed ensued.

Reed testified that the majority of the committee ruled out testimony offered by the minority. McMahon pronounced the charge false and demanded proof. Jones was permitted to proceed, when McMahon again objected. Another angry discussion followed. Jones finally testified, retold the old story of intimidation. He testified largely as to the conduct of James E. Anderson. Witnesses testified as to what he knew about the so-called Sherman letter. He never saw a letter written by Sherman to any one about the election of 1876. The witness also testified to a long cross-examination, McMahon took fire at Jones' examination, and without consulting the committee he demanded J. E. Anderson. She said Anderson wanted to be taken care of. The witness testified that he was not present. McMahon interrupted the witness. He asked if he had been called in Senator Sherman's interest. Reed replied he had. A long and acrimonious controversy between McMahon and Reed ensued.
